

Micro and macro-Economic Analysis (NAM-101)

Course Outcomes:

1. Economic Analysis Skills: Students will develop the ability to analyze economic issues, understand economic theories, and apply economic principles to real-world scenarios.
2. Policy Evaluation and Decision Making: Students will be able to evaluate economic policies, assess their implications on micro and macro levels, and make informed decisions regarding economic issues.

Unit	Topic
I	Introduction to Economics: Basic Concepts of Economics, Microeconomics vs. Macroeconomics, Economic Models and Analysis, Economic Systems
II	Microeconomic Analysis: Supply and Demand, Elasticity of Demand and Supply, Consumer Behavior and Utility Theory, Production and Cost Analysis
III	Market Structures: Perfect Competition, Monopoly, Oligopoly, Monopolistic Competition
IV	Macroeconomic Analysis: National Income Accounting, Aggregate Demand and Aggregate Supply, Fiscal Policy, Monetary Policy
V	Economic Growth and Development: Economic Growth Models, Development Economics, Poverty and Inequality, Globalization and Trade

TEXT BOOKS:

1. "Principles of Microeconomics" by N. Gregory Mankiw
2. "Macroeconomics" by Paul Krugman and Robin Wells
3. "Microeconomics: Theory and Applications" by Dominick Salvatore
4. "Macroeconomics: Principles, Applications, and Tools" by Arthur O'Sullivan, Steven Sheffrin, and Stephen Perez